The Research Methodology Workshop on Data Collection Organised on the Occasion of World Statistics Day

Date: 18 October 2025 Venue: Seminar Hall of Govt. National College, Sirsa

Organised by: Department of Economics in collaboration with Research Cell, IQAC, and English

Subject Society.

Introduction:

On the occasion of World Statistics Day, the Department of Economics, Govt. National College, Sirsa, organised a one-day workshop on "Research Methodology: Data Collection" on 18th October 2025.

The workshop aimed to create awareness among students about the importance of quality data in research and to strengthen their understanding of various types and methods of data collection.

It was organised in collaboration with the Research Cell, Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC), and the English Subject Society of the college.

Inaugural Session:

The workshop began with a formal inaugural session conducted by Dr Meet, who anchored the event. The Chief Guest and keynote speaker of the first technical session was Dr Prem Chand Kamboj, Retired Principal, a distinguished academician and researcher.

The session began with a welcome speech by Sh. Surinder Kumar Sheoran. He warmly greeted the resource persons, faculty members, and participants.

Technical Session I: "Data: Need for Quality and Standards"

Speaker: Dr Prem Chand Kamboj, Retd. Principal

Dr Kamboj highlighted the importance of maintaining quality and standard in data collection. He explained the six dimensions of data quality—accuracy, consistency, completeness, timeliness, validity, and reliability—and discussed their role in ensuring credible and effective research outcomes. His lecture emphasised the ethical use of data and the importance of precision in research methodology.

Technical Session II: "Types of Data"

Speaker: Surinder Kumar Sheoran, Head, Department of Economics

Surinder Kumar discussed the various types of data, such as primary and secondary, qualitative and quantitative, cross-sectional and time-series data.

He also elaborated on the role of correct data classification in research design and statistical analysis.

Students actively participated in this session, answering questions and sharing examples from their own academic experiences.

Technical Session III: "Data Collection Methods"

Speaker: Dr Amandeep

Dr Amandeep introduced students to the different methods of data collection, including surveys, interviews, observations, and experiments.

He discussed how to choose appropriate tools and sampling techniques and shared valuable insights on designing effective questionnaires. His session linked theoretical knowledge with real-world research practices.

Technical Session IV: Practical Data Collection Activity

Resource Coordination: Department of Economics Faculty

In the final session, students were given a practical assignment to apply their learning.

They were asked to collect data from the students of the Government. National College, Sirsa, on their library visit habits.

The exercise aimed to provide hands-on experience in framing questions, collecting responses, and organising data systematically.

Students enjoyed the activity and appreciated the opportunity to experience the process of field data collection firsthand.

Participation:

The workshop witnessed enthusiastic participation from around 75 students of both undergraduate and postgraduate levels.

The sessions were highly interactive, and students expressed that the workshop enhanced their understanding of research methodology and the practical importance of reliable data.

Valedictory Session:

The Valedictory Address was delivered by Principal Sh. Harjinder Singh appreciated the efforts of the Department of Economics, the Research Cell, and all collaborators for organising such an intellectually stimulating workshop.

He encouraged students to apply the skills learned during the sessions in their future research endeavours.

The event concluded with a Vote of Thanks proposed by Dr Harvinder Singh, expressing gratitude to all speakers, participants, and organising members for their contribution to the success of the workshop.

Conclusion:

The workshop was an enriching and insightful academic event conducted on the occasion of World Statistics Day.

It effectively combined theoretical knowledge with practical application, helping students understand the importance of data quality, classification, and collection techniques.

The collaborative efforts of the Department of Economics, Research Cell, IQAC, and English Subject Society made the event a memorable and valuable learning experience for all participants.
